Practical Difficulties Reviewed.

BRITISH PRODUCTION.

London, Yesterday.

In the House of Commons Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister read the rubber communique and remarked during the discussion that the whole position had been carefully reviewed in order to test the practicability of any scheme of restriction, but that a conclusion has been reached that the practical difficulties were such as to preclude the adoption of a comprehensive scheme with any reasonable prospect of success. He considered this conclusion inevitable in the circumstances and it had been reluctantly accepted by both Governments concerned, and he was deeply indebted to the representatives of the rubber industry for their help

Mr. Campbell's Optimism.

London, Yesterday. "British rubber companies, which are still able to exist, must continue to recognise, and I am quite certain that they will have no difficulty in producing at a considerably lower price than the Dutch.'

This was the opinion expressed to-day by the Commoner, Mr. E. T. Campbell, who for many years was identified with the Dutch East rubber industry. He added that the steady low price was always preferable and in the long run was more profitable than a continuously fluctuating and nervous market which had now prevailed for over a year owing to restriction negotiations. -Reuter.

"YOUNG AS YOU FEEL."

"Young As You Feel," the long awaited Will Rogers' comedy drama, in which the popular screen star and comedian is seen for the first time as a model of what the well dressed man should wear, is showing to-day at the King's Theatre.

The story deals with the quite human and logical predicament of a kind and wealthy widower who finds his two wilful sons slowly getting: beyond his control. They refuse to share the responsibilities of his large meat-packing business, but are very willing to spend its profits on their social and sporting (activities.

After years of patience Rogers decides to beat his sons at their own game, and in the company of that delightful French comedienne. Fifi Dorsay, he visits an expensive tailor, and makes the rounds of the various night clubs, race tracks and other centres of pleasure.

His plan brings results, results that are not only surprising to Rogers, Fift, and his sons, but which will also amaze you.

"Young As You Feel," which is Rogers' fifth starring Fox picture, is the talking screen's version of George Ade's well known stage play, Legion of admirers. "Father And The Boys." It is said to offer Rogers the best opportunity of his screen career to display his natural and homely style of humour and to be the most human and hilarious character of all his pictures.

In addition to Miss Dorsay, the comedian is supported by a cast of first-class quality, including that celebrated character actor, Lucien Littlefield, Donald Dillaway and Terrance Ray, impersonate the two spoiled sons and Rosalie Roy and Lucile Browne are the feminine members of the youthful and romantic foursome, Another important player is Brandon Hurst, who recently played with Rogers in "A Connecticut Yankee."

Frank Borzage, who directed "They Had To See Paris," which nurked the screen debut of both Rogers and Fift Dorsay, directed the porduction.

L/CPL. PALMER AGAIN S. A. RUMJAHN'S EASY GOLF TRIUMPHS.

Defeats His Old Rival by Ten Yards.

RESERVE BURST DECIDES.

Lance Corporal Palmer, one the two runners who dead-heated the Kowloon Marathon last year, was again successful in the six mile event which was run in Kowloon yesterday evening. Private Jones-Rogers, the other winner of last year's event occupied second place.

A field of 23 runners, lined up at the Central British School for Collins, 6-3, 6-1. the race, and after a good start, Segalen and Walsham beat Bowker the runners began to string out, Palmer and Jones-Rogers running abreast. Even in the very early stages of the race, it became evident that there were only a few who could possibly win, and it was not long before Palmer, Jones-Rogers, Robinson, A.B. Murphy and Sergeant Hyde had put considerable distance between themselves and the remaining participants. The two eventual winners were setting a hard pace which was maintained throughout the race.

At the end of five miles the field was still unchanged as far as the first five were concerned, but at Chatham Road, Robinson, who was still running strongly began slowly to drop back, and at the corner of Salisbury Road and Nathan Road he was 40 yards behind the leading couple, who were still going neck and neck.

Nearing the post Palmer, who was obviously the fresher of the two, put on a spurt and finished about ten yards in front of Jones-Rogers. Robinson, who made a gallant attempt to overtake the latter, did manage to pull up, but when Jones-Rogers crossed the line he held a lead of about 20 yards. Murphy occupied fourth place, while Private Jones came

CHAMPION AS BANDIT'S SHIELD

Daring Raid on Miami Club.

T. P. PERKINS WOUNDED.

Miami, Feb. 27. A scene outrivalling a sensational gangster film was enacted at the Embassy Club, one of the most fashionable night clubs here, early this morning, when armed and masked bandits attempted a hold-up, resulting in a shooting battle with the police, in which the ex-British amateur golf champion, T. P. Perkins, was wounded in the hip. One bandit was killed and two other bandits and two club employees were wounded.

Two plain-clothes policemen were eating in the kitchen when six bandits entered and covered the kitchen with their pistols and sawed off shot-guns, and marched them into the dining room filled with fashionable men and women dining and dancing. The leader of the bandits and two others proceeded towards the castino and the remaining bandits tried to bar the doors between the kitchen and the dining room. While their attention was momentarily distracted, the two police men drew their pistols and shot the bandit leader dead. A battle between the police and the bandits followed.

Mr. Perkins, whom one of the bandits seized and held as a shield. was wounded by stray bullets.

Perkins's injury will probably prevent him from playing, in the final of the Dixie Championship, of which he is the holder.

Perkins won the English amateur close championship in 1927, and won the British amateur championship in 1928 and was runner-up in the American amateur championship (when Bobby Jones beat him) 10 and 9). He has played three times for England against Scotland and once for Britain against America in the Walker Cup competition. Little more than a year ago he went to America to take up a professional appointment with the Fox Hills Golf Club, Staten Island, New York.

RENE LACOSTE MAY PLAY AGAIN.

Offers to Play for France in Davis Cup.

London, Feb. 20. Rene Lacoste, the former Wimbledon champion, whose coolness and machine-like strokes have won the admiration of the tennis world, will probably return to the game in the near future for it is understood that he has offered to play for the French Davis Cup team. Lacoste's last appearance was at Wimbledon in 1928 when he won the championship. Soon afterwards ill-health compelled him to give up the French Davis Cup team this year may make all the difference to France in her efforts to retain the FETTES DEFEAT LORETTO.

Interesting Scottish Schools Game. London, Feb. 23.

Nearly 2,000 spectators witnessed

R. the game between Fettes and Loretto at Fettes when the home team won by two goals and two tries (16 8 points) to one dropped goal and a se try (7 points). It proved an interesting match.

Stand Court: - Akiyama and The visitors started off very well the first half when they opened the Kyd. Throughout almost the whole Barros and Remedios v Silva and of this half Loretto confined Fettes to their own "twenty-five" and only sound tackling kept them out. Just & Holmes or Green v R. M. Hender-before the interval, however, the Fettes pack crossed the line in a 2 body and Ross scored a try which was not converted. From the very beginning of the second half Fettes steadily improved until at the end they were infinitely the superlor team. Loretto, however, were the first to score again after the interval when Barrow got over an unconverted try. Fettes retaliated and Kerr scored another try which again was improved. A scrum in the centre enabled McIntyre to get over for the home side and this time Ferguson goaled.

The game ended with a spectacular try by Hunter who, starting from his own "25," raced down the field, 8 outdistancing and outwitting his orponents, and scored between the From this Ferguson had little difficulty in improving.

HEARTS OF BRASS NOW PERFECTED.

New Mechanical Device and How It Works.

BRITISH SCIENTIST'S FEAT.

A British scientist named Gibbs has perfected a mechanical heart which maintains blood circulation in animals after the real heart has been removed, according to Paul J. Hanzlik, head pharmacology department of Stanford University, California.

The mechanical heart is made of brass, and with it dogs, cats, rabbits, and other such animals live several hours under anaesthetic.

Its value is that it enables students and physicians to the flow of blood through animal's body and to study effects of various drugs and dyes on the blood.
